

Gerald and the Magic of the Trees

Sara Shebear

Gerald and the Magic of the Trees

Sara Shebear

Published by and available from:
www.theendlessbookcase.com

e-Edition

Available in multiple e-book formats.

The Endless Bookcase Ltd
71 Castle Road, St Albans, Hertfordshire
England, UK, AL1 5DQ

Copyright © Sara Shebear 2019
All rights reserved

ISBN: 978-1-912243-59-4

Disclaimer

Copyright © Sara Shebear 2019

Sara Shebear has asserted the right to be identified as the author of this work in accordance with the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988.

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise, without prior permission from the copyright owner.

Acknowledgements

This book was inspired and written in nature, accompanied by a trusty greyhound.

About the Author

Sara Shebear is passionate about empowering children and writing children's books that have a moral or give an important message.

She is working on creating short stories that are accompanied by downloadable learning activities as well as researching the best ways children learn and building learning resources around this.

Sara Shebear also runs wellbeing activities for children. Her ultimate dream is to set up learning centres throughout the UK and the whole world where children come and learn their numeracy and literacy doing a series of projects they are passionate about. These projects, will give them the skills and experience to create a specific career for themselves.

Further information about Sara and her activities can be found on her website at www.sarashebear.com

Gerald and the Magic of the Trees

"Mum, Mum, Mum where are you? Dad, Bertie!" Gerald shouted. He was lost.

It was a sunny Sunday afternoon and Gerald and his family had decided to go for a walk in the woods. Gerald's dad had driven them to a new wood.

"It will be a great adventure, we will be like explorers." Gerald's dad said as they pulled into the car park.

Gerald was a shy boy. He preferred not to have adventures as he did not like things being different. He did not like surprises. His younger brother Bertie was more outgoing. Gerald secretly called him "Bertie the brave". Even though Bertie was younger than Gerald, Gerald looked up to him. He admired Bertie's courage, to be able to do anything he wanted to.

They all got out of the car. Even Gerald's mum was excited to be exploring a different area.